Presents

Beekeeping School 2008

The Real "Secret Life of Bees"

Now is the chance for you to begin an odyssey into the fascinating world of beekeeping. This is an exciting introduction to the art of beekeeping with a combination of classroom instruction, hands-on demonstration, and a field session. The school consists of seven to eight classes held on Tuesday evenings starting in February and ending with a field demonstration in April where you will witness your first hive installation. The course will provide you a solid foundation of knowledge to start your first hive. The classes will cover everything from bee biology and hive management to tools and equipment.

In addition you will receive a one year membership in the Norfolk County Beekeepers Association. With close to 100 members, monthly meetings and more, you will have all the support you need, especially in your first year.

All the classes and monthly club meetings are held at the Norfolk County Agricultural School, 400 Main Street, Walpole, MA. For more information, please visit our web site: www.norfolkbees.org to download the application or contact Tim Sullivan 781-326-2834 or Howard Crawford 508-528-9117. The class schedule for 2008 is February 5, 12, 26, March 4, 11, 18, 25, and April 1, 8.
